The business of the farmer is at homehis pleasures are home pleasures, and his enjoyments are the enjoymens of bome. The merchant may get along without a home; he may spend his days in his office or in the exciting marts of commerce-his evenings in contriving new schemes, deep plans for accumulating wealth, or averting anticipated loss. Too seldom are the hours or days he snatches from business cares for recreation devoted to quiet home pleasures -they do not satisfy the ever-feverish brain that craves excitement, even in its repose. The watering place, the concert, the theatre, the convivial party, and the wine-cup constitute, in too many cases, the pleasures of our men of wealth. It is stated that a merchant who recently failed in one of our large cities, on being asked what he intended to do, replied that he he should first go and get sequainted with his wife and children.' This, perhaps, may seem an extreme case; yet too many are strangers at home! How happy the man who feels that he has a true home, the temple of his household gods, where he reigns as patriarch, priest and king -a refuge from ago and malice, a shelter from the of life, that no loss of wealth, no change of circumstances can effect—a rose tom of the class held up his hand, which without a thorn -a sun that knows no sottings.

A Bold, but Beautiful Figure.

During the delivery of a sermon in St. Patrick's Catholic church, at Washington, D. C., the speaker, Rev. Francis X. Boyle, made use of the following beautiful figure in connection with the Atlantic tolograph :

"What is it, after all, when compared tween the throne of Divine Grace and the fires and booming of cannon. The reason is, one is the telegraph of this world, and may produce wonderful revolutions on earth; the other is the sweet communion between Christ and the Christian's soul, and will socure a glorious immortality in

They all disobeyed the command with the exception of one little girl-she alone refrainel from touching the fruits.

The first question asked by the teacher

The unauimous answer was-'The little girl.'

The next question was-

An August Luxury -A country friend caters the following novel luxury for the green corn season: It is nothing less than a 'green corn cake.' Take a dozen or two ears of corn, the sweet varieties preferred, husk, and without boiling, grate off the grains. Stir into this about two tablespoonsful of flour for every dozon ears, and also no egg previously well beaten, and a little salt and a very little sugar. If the corn be sweet, about two tablespoonsful to every dozen ears. Let the whole be well stirred and baked, in a greased tin pan, for an hour, in a hot even. Then eat with fresh butter or cream .- Easton Express,

Rats. - When a house is invested by rats which refuse to nibble at toasted cheese and the usual baits, a few drops of the highly scented oil of rhadium, poured on the bottom of a engetrap, will almost invariably attract it full of the 'mischievous residents' before morning. We have known this to be tried with most extraordinary success. Where a trap baited with all menuer of edibles had failed to attract a single rat, the cil of rhodium caused it to be completely crowded night after night, until the house was cleared of the noisome visitors. So says one of our exchanges. Miss Mitchell, the distinguished female astronomer, is nightly inspecting the beavens with very considerable success.-We wish she would report whether the big hoop around Saturn is larger or smaller in An Atlanta Breakfast.

How to Water Plants. This is usually badly done. Water is poured upon the surface, enough, perhaps, to wet down an inch or two. The water washes the fine earth into the chinks and interstices, and there the plant stands with dry or only moist soil below, but with a baked mass on the surface which shuts out warmth, air, and the moisture that would be derived from its free circulation. of two methods should be adopted. A few plants thus well cared for will yield more than three times the number carelessly treated. - Amer. Agri.

A Picture in the Room.

Mr. Hazlitt has said, somewhere, of the portrait of a beautiful female with a noble countenance, that it seems as if an unhandsome action would be impossible in its pres once. Most men of any refinement of soul must have felt the truth and force of this sentiment. And therefore we have often thought that the picture of a beloved mother, or an endeared sister, or a devoted wife, hung up in the room where we spend our leisure hours must constantly exert a mighty influence upon the feelings and thoughts. Cowper's picture of his mother was a living presence, whose speaking countenance and beaming eye appealed, as no living mortal could, to his inmost soul, and stirred its profoundest depths.

The Slaughter which Daily Sustains Us .- When we ride, we sit upon the skin of the pig; when we walk we tread upao the skin of the bullock; we wear the skin of the kid upon our hands, and the fleece of the sheep upon our bucks. More than half the world are human beings in sheep's clothing. We cat the flesh of some creatures, of some we drink the milk, upon others we are dependent for the cultivation of the soil; and if it is a pain to us to suffer hunger and cold, we should be scrupulous to avoid inflicting wanton misery upon the animals by means of which we are warmed and fed .- American Agriculturalist.

Very Consulerate .- An Irishman being recently on trial for some offense, pleaded 'not guilty,' and the jury being in the hox, the State solicitor produced a Mr. Furkisson as a witness. With the utmost innecence Patrick turned his face to the court and said:

'Do I understand, yer honor, that Mr. Furkisson is to be a witness forneget me? The Judge said dryly, 'it seems so.' Well, thin, yer bonor, I plade guilty, sure an' yer honor plaise, not because i am guilty, for I'm as innocent as yer honor's sucking babe, but jist on account of saving Misther Furkisson's sowl.'

Farming in Germany.

An American traveling in Germany says the road from Berlin to Leipsic passes through a beautiful and highly cultivated The land is generally cultivated country. The land is generally cultivated by small farmers, who either own or rent

The principal crops are rye and potatoes, and indeed these may be said to be the staff and almost sole support of the pensantry. Occasionally, as one is whirled along at the rate of twenty-five miles per life, and obtained the first regular occupahour, never faster, a patch of barley, or rape-seed, millet, or mustard, may be seen, but potatoes and rye are as seven to one .-The land is cultivated in long, narrow strips, and as the eye rests upon the land cape, with its diversified colors, the dark green of the potatoes, the bright golden of the rye, (now in ear,) the yellow flower of the mustard and the pale pinky-red of the rape, the effect is most beentiful. Waving in all citizen, but my first election to public office worse tasted, worse looking, and a d-l of their bright glory under the radiance of a a sight smaller broakfasts than this is, several times.'

There are no ugly worms or furnice landlord, shot him dead with the post and rail feners, or hedges, except along the road, to mar the beauty of the scene, and, stranger still, never a house in the midst of the cultivation. The people all huddle together in villages large or small, according to the extent of arable land around them.

The Solar Eclipse.—The solar eclipse which is to take place early in September next, is attracting the attention of the scientific world almost everywhere. Astronomers in England are particularly engaged in their preparations for the grand event. The hest points of observation are decided to be on the coasts of Brazil and Peru, in South America. The British Admiralty has detailed a government vessel to proceed to the former locality, and the English move the surface earth and pour on water Government is furnishing every facility for enough to reach the wet subsoil, and when a corps of astronomers and scientific men who have agreed to go there to take the desired observations. The occasion is deemed the most important that has occurred, or is to occur for many years, so far as the interests of science are concerned.

> Tall Skeletous Discovered .- Mr. William D. Frazer, writing to the Cincinnati (Ohio) Gazette, from Winchester, Indiana, says that half a mile northwest of that place is an old fort including about 30 eres of ground within the fortification.-The mound in the centre is about 25 feet high, while the fort or breastwork is only about 15 feet. Directly cust and west of the mound are openings or gateways, around which are other forts. A quarter of a mile northwest of the fort is the burving ground, where bones have been exhumed of men that were perhaps ten feet tall. Any one who doubts the latter statement, he says, may call at his office and see the evidence.

Relief of Neuralgia. - As this dreadful disease is becoming more prevalent than formerly, and as the doctors have not discovered any method or medicine that will permanently cure it, we simply state that ry last the clost was 93; the second 91, for some time past a member of our family the third 88, the fourth 82, and the fifth has suffered most intensely from it, and | 80. could find no sure relief from any remedy app'ied, until we saw an article, whi republished, recommending the application of bruised horse-radish to the wrist, for the cure of toothache. As neuralgia and toothache are both nervous diseases, we thought the remedy for the one would be likely to give relief to the other, so we made the simple application of horse-radish, bruised and applied to the wrist on the side of the body where the disease was scated, gave almost instant relief to a severe attack of neuralgia. Since then we have applied it several times, and with the same gratifying results. The remedy is simple, cheap, and may be within the reach of every one.-Laurensville Herold.

Too True -The Recorder of Chicago, Ill., in charging the grand jury recently,

'During the past five years that I have held this court it has been my unpleasant duty to try and sentence to the State prison several hundred persons; and I am sorry to say that, while it is an easy matter to find jurors who are ready and willing to punish poor offenders without position or friends, it is with great difficulty that jurors can be found who appreciate the fact that one bad man of position and wealth can do is a rob'in. more harm than one hundred poor men can who are in the bumble walks of life."

Reform in the Household of the New Princess Royal of Prussia .- A Berlin correspondent relates several ancedotes of innovations and reforms in the household made by the Princess Victoria since her ar rival in Prussia from England. One is as follows: The chambermaids, whose proper busi ness it is to clean the rooms, discharge the you know, very naturally, be created by my duties of their position in silk dresses .-The daughter of the richest sovereign in the world decided to put a stop to this extravagance. One fine morning she had all the female servants summoned to her presence, persons of exalted birthand station. I hope and delivered what may be considered a highly successful maiden speech. She began by telling them the expense of their bups to its novelty, was the most shocking dresses must evidently exceed the rate of their wages. She added that as their wages were not to be raised, it would be very fortunate for them if they were allowed to ing prayer meetings, in a popular church, a assume cotton articles of clothing. Senator Douglas on the Stump.

A Scrap of his Early History.—In a speech at Winchester, Illinois, delivered on the 7th inst., Mr. Douglas said:

Twenty-five years ago I entered this town on foot, with my coat upon my arm, without an acquaintance in a thousand miles, and without knowing where I could get money to pay a week's board. Here I made the first six dollars I ever earned in my tion that I ever pursued. For the first time in my life I then felt that the responsibilities of manhood were upon me, although I was under age, for I had none to advise with and knew no one upon whom I had a right to call for assistance or for friendship. Here I found the then settlers of the country my friends-my first start in life was taken here, not only as a private by the people was conferred upon me by those whom I am now addressing and by their fathers. A quarter of a century bas passed, and that penniless boy stands before you with his heart fuil and gushing with the sentiments which such associations and recellections necessarily inspire.

Census of China and Pekin. - The Russian mission now at Pekin has, in a recent report, made known the result of the last census, taken by order of the Emperor of China. The present population is said, by this document, to amount to 415,000,000. that of Pekin being 1,648,814. Pekin was, up to a recent period, set down by writers of geography as the most populous city in the world, but it would appear that it is but two-thirds as large as London, England, and that it does not greatly exceed Now York, Brooklyn, and their environs.

Cause of the Sioux and Chippena War. A woman is said to have been the cause of the protracted war between the Sioux and Chippewas. The two tribes were formerly friendly and at peace with each other, until a rupture took place at Yellow Lake, on the St. Croix. There, as the story goes, the tribes met for a 'tete a-tete,' and, when they came to separate, the wife of a noted Chippewa Chief went off with a Sioux. The Chippewa followed and overtook them, and killed the guilty puir, whom he found sitting side by side. The friends of the Sioux avenged his death, and there has been war ever since. So much for Indians.

First-The Tariff Question. Second-The Kansas Question. Third-The Extravagance on the Fuderal Administration.

THE TARIFF QUESTION. For twenty years, American ladior ha not been so prostrate as at present. On all sides and from all quarters we hear of silent workshops, abandoned manufactories deserted wharves, enfectived trade, reduced wages, diminished employment, and, especially in the great centres of business, wel nigh universal stagnation. la this, as in every great calamity, all branches of trade sympathize. The causes of this prostration I need not discuss; but it is clear for argu ment, that as the power of evil legislation has largely contributed to these unhappy results, the power of wise legi-lation shoul be applied to their remedy. Hence, the Bevenue Policy of the Country should be revised, and a Tariff should be enected which would discriminate in favor of H one Labor, encourage the profitable investment of Home Capital, protect the honest Home Importer from the false valuations of the dishonest, replenish our exhausted Treasury, give employment to Home Mechanics, and create a demand for Home Product--thus vitalizing the energies of the Nation, making the world our tributary instead of us being the world's, and largely increase the wealth, prosperity and power of the whole people. Protection to 1842 recreated American Trade. It gave a glow to every occupation and speedily reised the from extreme prestration. In 1858, it would be covering the country with 'blessings and bem tits,' if the Administration of Mr. Buchman, which is controled by a jealous and selfish interest has tile to the growth of Free Labor, were no determined upon trying, even at the risk experiment of Free Trade, with its inevityble consequence, Direct Taxation. Whoever would refuse to give it, is neither wise nor just, neither liberal nor porriotic. THE KANSAS QUESTION.

The Policy of Mr. Buchanan's Adminis tration upon this subject, was probably the most flagrant violation of the tundamental principles of American Liberty known to our history. Its persistent attempt to compel Congress to admit Kansus into the Union, une inditionally, under the Lecompton Constitution, which the people of the Territory had repeatedly repudiated in the most emphasic and salemn manner, and in every made known to the laws, involved such hideous doctrines as these : -

New York, August 24th .- The following dispatch was received to-day by Mayor Tiemann from London:

London, August 23, 1858 - From the Lord Mayor of Landon to the Hon. D. F. Tiemann, Mayor of New York: The Lord Mayor of London most cordially reciprocates the congratulations of the Mayor of New York upon the success of so important an undertaking as the complete m of the Atlantic telegraph cable. It is indeed one of the most glorious triumphs of the age, and reflects the highest credit upon the energy, skill and perseverance of all parties entruted with so difficult a duly; and the Lord Mayor sincerely hopes that by the blessing of Almighty God it may be the means of cementing the kind feelings which now exist between the two countries.

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett, of the New-York Lung Infirmary.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases, toment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, and Air-Passages. By Inhalation, the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind, to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and lo-cal treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are too well known to need any sulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and personal friends, through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all, and not confine myself, as heretolore, to those only who entered the Infirmary, or who were able to visit meat my office. Hoping therefore and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, prepared to suit each indi-vidual case, Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inha-lers, &c. &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or the Canadas: Terms-My terms of treatment by letter are as follows, viz : $12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also, Inhaling Vapor, and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows: $6 to be paid to Express Agent on receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance SB at the expiration of the month. if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients, by giving a full history of their case, and their symptoms in full, can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may re-
